

The APAC Consumer & Sustainable Travel

Globally, we found that 90% of consumers want to see sustainable options when they are looking to book a trip. However, in APAC, this number is even higher, illustrating strong sustainable travel intent in the region.

95% of APAC consumers are looking for sustainable travel options

They're Willing to Pay More for Sustainability

The APAC region is willing to pay 41% more to ensure their travel is sustainable*

India

44%
more

China

40%
more

Australia

28%
more

Japan

25%
more

Preferred Sustainable Travel Locations Differ by Region

Chinese & Indian consumers

Looking for sustainable options in major cities

Australian & Japanese consumers

Looking in lesser-known locations

Indian consumers

Supporting local communities

Australian consumers

Lessening environmental impact

Chinese consumers

Lessening environmental impact & supporting local economies

Japanese consumers

Supporting local economies

*The country-specific results were weighted to reflect the demographics in each country.