YOUR AUTHORITY TO USE THE SERVICE:

You represent and warrant to Expedia that: (1) all information in your registration is complete and accurate; and (2) you have full power and authority to use the Service on behalf of the hotel(s) identified in your registration.

If you pay using a credit card, then:

- Use your credit card to deposit funds into your TravelAds account (minimum funding amounts apply). The amount in your account will be reduced for each click on your advertisement(s). The amount of the reduction will be determined by an auction model whereby you bid against other advertisers in the hotel's geographic region. The winning bid is determined at the time the advertisement is served, and the cost of the click is based on competitiveness of your bid, ad relevance, and auction dynamics. For each click, you will never pay more than the maximum price you have set.
- You may add funds to your account at any time.
- You may request a refund of unused funds. Refunds are credited to the credit card account you used to pay.
- Unused funds expire one (1) year from last activity date. If you want to request unused funds, Expedia must receive your request prior to the expiration date. If it does not, unused funds will not be refunded to you.

Spending Caps: You may set a daily cap on your advertising spend through the Service. Once your spend has reached that cap, your account will be turned off until the next day, as applicable. Please note it is possible that your advertisements will continue to receive clicks after your account has been turned off, and you will be charged for all such clicks. This could occur, for example, when a customer leaves a browser window open and later returns to it and clicks on the advertisement for a since-shut-down account.

Automatic Rebill: If you select this option, we will automatically fund your account when your account balance reaches $100 (or another amount designated by you, if we make this an option). This means that:

- If you pay through the Direct Bill Payment Method, we will automatically bill you in the amount you have specified (funding minimums apply).

If you fail to pay any invoice within thirty (30) days of the invoice date, then Expedia reserves the right to put a hold on your account and remove currently running advertisements and/or decline to accept new advertisements until you have paid in full.
